

Smoot Outlines Tax Reduction

Chairman of Senate Finance Committee Talks Over Plan With Coolidge—Likely to Effect Taxes on This Year's Income—Urges Early Session of Congress.

Rapid City, S. D., July 22 (AP).—Reduction of taxes applying on this year's incomes which would be paid beginning next March 15, appears probable.

This proposal is included in a tax reduction plan outlined yesterday by Senator Smoot, Republican, of Utah, chairman of the finance committee, to President Coolidge.

The Administration is prepared to go ahead with the tax slash at the next session and Senator Smoot expressed the view that at least $300,000,000 in the annual burden of federal levies could be lopped off in the new measure.

The desire for early enactment of the proposed tax revision legislation is another reason, in the opinion of the Utah Senator, for an early special session of Congress, beginning about November 1, a month ahead of the regular meeting of Congress. It would be necessary to have the tax bill put into law before March 15, if this scheme went through.

While additional relief is in sight for the income taxpayers, the program of Senator Smoot would give a cut to the taxpayers with incomes between $15,000 and $60,000. Personal normal rates of one and one-half per cent on the $4,000 income and five per cent on the next $4,000 income and five per cent on all over that appear destined to be continued along with the present exemptions of $3,500 for married persons and $1,500 for single persons.

Corporations which have received no cut in their normal taxes in recent years now seem most likely to get the lion's share of relief. Senator Smoot favors reducing this levy from 13 1/2 per cent to 12 per cent, which he estimates would eat up $150,000,000 of the prospective slash.

Miscellaneous levies also would be wiped out in the Senator's program, including those on admissions and dues. However, he would continue the automobile tax, cutting it from three per cent to one and one-half per cent.

Kingston Aviator With Lindbergh

James J. Murphy, Jr., Accompanied Noted Flier on His Trip From Mitchell Field to Hartford.

Mr. and Mrs. James J. Murphy of 97 Elmwood street received a letter Thursday from their son, James J. Murphy, Jr., that he had the pleasure of accompanying Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh when the latter made his flight in his Spirit of St. Louis from Mitchell Field to Hartford, Conn., which carried only Lindbergh.

Mr. Murphy, who is assistant city clerk, is a member of the Army Air Reserve Corps, and recently was ordered to report to Mitchell Field. Fully 100,000 people greeted the flier upon their arrival at the Connecticut capital, which was the last stop in Lindbergh's national tour.

The Kingston young man was highly honored at being chosen from among a great number of reserve aviators. A regular army flier also accompanied Lindbergh on the trip to Hartford.

Mr. Murphy was an aviator during the World War and at the close of the war was made a member of the Reserve Corps. Each year he is called to report and to make several flights during the course of training. In his letter to his parents the local flier states that Lindbergh is just as the newspapers have been describing him.

Moose Delegates To Elect Officers

Oswego Man Slated for President—Reports Indicate That Schenck Is Favored for Next Convention—Col. Roosevelt to Speak.

Watkinsville, N. Y., July 22 (AP).—Business sessions today claimed the attention of delegates to the convention of the state association of Moose, and women of the Loyal Order of Moose, and the election of officers set for this afternoon.

A. N. La Tulip of Oswego is slated for president of the organization to succeed Michael J. Heine. A second round has been arranged for the election of delegates to the convention, followed by a dance.

A contest is certain when the choice of next year's convention city is considered. Schenckstadt, Niagara Falls and Batavia are all bidding for the honor with unofficial reports indicating that Schenckstadt is favored.

An address by Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, former assistant secretary of the navy, will be one of the features Saturday.

Carol Now Calls Himself King

Former Crown Prince Said to Cherish Hope of Mounting Throne—Father Leaves Him $400,000—Receives No Reply from Request To Attend Funeral.

Paris, July 22 (AP).—Richer by his father's bequest of $400,000, former Crown Prince Carol of Rumania now appears to cherish the idea of mounting the throne he repeatedly renounced, judging by statements to the press, in which he refers to himself as "King Carol of Rumania."

Meanwhile his application for permission to return to Bucharest to attend the funeral of Ferdinand has not been answered, he said, and Rumanian circles here express the belief that this or other communications he may send will receive no answers while Premier Bratiano is in power.

These circles say also that the prospects of there being a King Carol for the present at least are extremely remote.

Carol now is something like a prisoner. His villa at Neully is guarded by detectives and besieged by squads of newspaper men who observe his every movement from the streets or points of vantage of neighboring buildings. Even the shadows on the shades are being carefully noted, and all sorts of inferences drawn from them as to political conferences going on within.

Claims Sacco Has Abandoned Hope

Wife Says That Prisoner Has Given Up All Hope—Secretary of Governor's Hearings Has Discouraged Him—Prisoners Start Sixth Day of Hunger Strike.

Boston, July 22 (AP).—Nicola Sacco, doomed with Bartolomeo Vanzetti to death in the electric chair next month, has told his wife he has given up all hope.

It was the first time in the seven-year fight that he and his fellow prisoner have waged to prove their innocence of the double murder for which they were convicted that either man has been reported as abandoning belief in ultimate vindication and freedom.

Mrs. Rose Sacco visited her husband at the Charlestown state prison where he and Vanzetti today were entering the sixth day of their hunger strike in protest against the secrecy which has surrounded Governor Alvan T. Fuller's investigation of their case.

Plainly moved by the interview, Mrs. Sacco quit the cheerless walls of the prison with the announcement that her husband had "given up all hope."

"If the governor's hearings were public, that might give him courage, but he feels that the secrecy is a bad sign," she declared.

The governor's advisory committee was considering today the voluminous data that had collected in a month's investigation concluded yesterday.

The governor has not finished his inquiry but was expected to forego his usual routine for the day because of the demands made upon his time by the ceremonies incident to the city and state's reception to Colonel Lindbergh. He received a number of witnesses yesterday but had no comment to make upon the letter of the Sacco-Vanzetti defense committee calling upon his "in the name of humanity" to throw open to the public the hearings he has been conducting.

Thousands Pass Bier of Ferdinand

Body Is Brought from Summer Palace to Winter Palace—King's Last Letter Makes Profound Impression—King Michael Issues Proclamation—Country Remains Calm.

Bucharest, July 22 (AP).—In a simple golden oak casket, covered with flowers from Queen Marie and his daughters, the body of King Ferdinand rested today in the golden hall of Cotroceni Palace. Thousands of sorrowing Rumanians passed the bier to do honor to their king.

The body was brought to the winter palace late yesterday from the royal summer estate at Sinara, where the monarch died. It will be in state until Sunday, when burial will take place in the royal mausoleum at Curtea de Arges. On the tomb will be engraved the words:

"I am a Rumanian, first, last and all the time."

Crowds Watch Coffin.

Guns boomed as the funeral train came to a stop in the Capital, and although rain was falling silently crowds watched as the coffin, surrounded by the sovereign's sword and cap, was borne from the station to a gun carriage and thence through the streets of the city to the palace. Men, women and children wept as the cortege passed.

Awaiting the body at the palace were the regents, cabinet members, the commander-in-chief of the army and civil authorities. When the procession made its way through the portals of the palace, Prince Nicolas, in crepe-banded naval uniform, walked close to his sister, Princess Ileana, wearing deep mourning.

Peasants Pass Coffin.

Groups of peasants walked sadly by the coffin at Sinara throughout the morning. A number of them were overcome with emotion as they gazed on the features of their sovereign, wearing the uniform of a general of the Rumanian army.

Brief Religious Ceremony.

In the afternoon the family gathered for a brief religious ceremony. Clouds of incense filled the great hall with the bells of a mountain monastery tolling a farewell. The coffin on the shoulders of senior generals of the army, was borne to the black-draped altar for the journey to Bucharest. At many places along the route, wild flowers were strewn on the tracks by peasants.

Country Remains Calm.

With the boy king Michael's reign established, the country remains calm, and the government has made known its determination to quash any attempt by followers of former Crown Prince Carol to regain the throne for him. In this connection, the story is being recalled of a conversation which King Ferdinand had last year with M. Bratiano, who has since become premier.

"I would have him shot," Bratiano is reported to have told the king when talking about a report that Carol was leaving Paris and proceeding to Rumania.

"Take care that he does not have you shot," Ferdinand is quoted as having replied laughingly.

Last Letter Published.

Bucharest, July 22 (AP).—A deep impression was created in Bucharest by the private letter which King Ferdinand wrote to Premier Bratiano two days before his death.

Writing as though he had a presentiment of death, the monarch spoke of his love for his country, of Carol and the wound dealt to him by the renouncing of the crown by his first-born son, and of the passing of the crown to the head of the boy Michael. The letter began:

"My Dear Premier: As a Christian, I have always been influenced by thought of the moment when I will find myself before my God. As a Rumanian and king, I have sacrificed life on this earth, but my love of country does not permit me to consider my duty ends with this life, and I cannot but think of what follows it."

Wants Rumania to Grow.

"God willed that the crown with which the fortunes of the country are indissolubly bound up, should pass to the head of the minor Michael (Michael). I pray heaven will accord him his benediction; that under his reign Rumania may be strengthened and enlarged—Rumania which has been built up by so many sacrifices."

"I appeal to all good and wise citizens to aid him to the utmost of their power in promoting orderly progress of the state."

Michael Issues Proclamation.

Bucharest, Rumania, July 22 (AP).—King Michael, Rumania's child sovereign, began his reign today by issuing the following order of the day to his troops:

"Soldiers!—After a reign, brilliant and glorious for the race, the Fatherland and the army—a reign conducted with great sacrifice and stern decision—our great and beloved king has closed forever his eyes which never ceased to contain an limited affection."

"His faithful heart will ever be present day and night in time of peace as well as in time of war, with the entire race, in sadness as well as in moments of glory. I give in leadership you have conquered, you have loved the national unity of all Rumanians, and with laurels gathered on the battlefield you have crowned his work and your own."

"Soldiers, we are confident that from the ranks of the army you will develop all your strength and the humblest soldiers will find proof of that spirit of discipline which is the pride of the army, and that you will remain worthy of the confidence which your country has placed in you."

"We are confident that you will develop all your strength and the humblest soldiers will find proof of that spirit of discipline which is the pride of the army, and that you will remain worthy of the confidence which your country has placed in you."

Fuller's Visits Sacco-Vazetti

Governor Visits State Prison and Talks With Condemned Men—Also Interviews Madeiros—Fuller Makes No Comments After the Interview.

Boston, July 22 (AP).—Governor Fuller, in whose hands, with the consent of the executive council, lies the pardoning power, visited the state prison today and interviewed Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, under sentence of death for murder. He also talked with Celestino Madeiros, awaiting electrocution for another murder, who has asserted that members of a gang with which he was associated, committed the murders of which Sacco and Vanzetti were convicted.

In the office of Warden William Hendry, who was present during the interviews, the governor talked first for 15 minutes with Madeiros and then for the same length of time with Sacco. Then Vanzetti was called in. He had in his hand two or three sheets of paper, apparently covered with notes.

It was the first time that Sacco and Vanzetti had seen daylight since they were taken to the state prison from the Dedham jail the first of this month. In spite of their hunger strike, which has continued since Sunday, they appeared to be in good physical condition and walked with a firm step. The strike was begun as a protest against what the men considered excessive secrecy surrounding the governor's personal investigation into their case, the Sacco-Vanzetti defense committee has announced.

Vanzetti left the warden's office after talking with the governor for an hour. Governor Fuller drove away from the prison a few minutes later, after telling newspaper men that he had nothing to say about the interviews.

Chamber of Commerce Directors Open Bids for Construction of New Factory for Shapero & Rubin—Factory Will Cost About $65,000.

Revised bids for the erection of the two story brick factory building for Shapero & Rubin at Grand street and Smith avenue were opened at the Chamber of Commerce rooms Thursday evening by the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce and the W. W. Kingston Company of this city was low bidder for the general mason, carpenter and painting work. The Kingston Company's bid was $41,900 and it is expected that papers will be ready and the contract signed early next week so that work on the factory can commence by August first. The contract calls for the work to be completed by the last of November so that Shapero & Rubin may take possession of the building on December first and begin operations on January 1.

The low bid for the plumbing, heating and metal work was submitted to Edwin Cusack.

The contracts for the electric work, freight elevator and sprinkler system were held open.

The factory building will be 70 by 140 feet in size, two stories in height and will employ about 175 hands, 65 of whom will be men. Plans were drawn by Architect George E. Lowe and submitted to contractors, but when bids were opened several days ago it was decided to revise the plans and ask for new bids to be opened July 21. The total cost of the building will be in the neighborhood of $65,000.

Bids for the mason, carpenter and painting work submitted and opened Thursday evening were:

Bite yourself an Alphabet

Become a Pretzeleer

There's a new order—the Order of Pretzeleers. Any man, woman or child, from 6 to 60 can join. All you need to belong is a set of teeth (first teeth, second teeth, or store teeth) and some O-So-Gud pretzels.

You already have the teeth. Your grocer will supply the pretzels. You initiate yourself by biting out an A. It can be done in two bites, if you are a clever biter. Like this or this:

Bite your A and you're a member—a full fledged pretzeleer privileged to wear a uniform, if you can find one. After you bite your A, eat it. Then go as far as you like up to Z.

All of which is to show you that O-So-Gud pretzels are good to eat and good for those who eat them—with soup, salad, hors d'oeuvres, dessert, between meals and all the other times you like to eat.

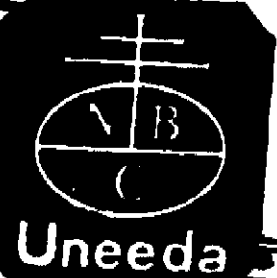

They're baked brittle, baked crisp, baked crunchy. They're easy to digest. They're salty..... Crunch, crunch... smack, smack.

For biting alphabets, and for eating, you'll like pretzels baked by Uneeda Bakers.

Common Stalk Borers Numerous

Specimens of the common stalk borer are being received by Dr. E. P. Felt, state entomologist, of the New York State Museum at Albany, from widely separated sections of the state. This indicates, he says, possibly an unusual abundance of this insect, though it is quite probable that the intense interest in the European corn borer has led to more careful examination of plants attacked by borers.

The common stalk borer is easily distinguished from all other corn-boring insects, by the characteristic, rather active caterpillar an inch or more in length and strongly marked with purplish or whitish brown and five white stripes, one down the middle of the back and two on each side, the latter wanting near the middle of the body, due to a blotch-like extension of the purplish brown. This peculiar coloration suggests a physical injury to the caterpillar.

The stalk borers occur commonly in the stems of the foliage of thick-stalked plants, such as tomatoes, potatoes, dahlias and corn. They work in the heart of the young corn shoots in very much the same way as the lined corn borer, another insect which has been unusually abundant. Attack by the lined corn borer is limited practically to recently turned sod land, and injury by the stalk borer is confined mostly to the outer rows in cultivated fields or to those weedy preceding season. Consequently clean and thorough cultivation is a most effective preventive measure. Wilted tips should be cut and the borers crushed.

Will Raise $850,000

An expedition that kindles the imagination is one that will put to sea from San Diego this summer in an effort to raise a ship sunk off the California coast in 1865, when the Brother Jonathan, laden with a government pay roll of $850,000 for Civil war soldiers, foundered. . . . The vessel has been definitely located, and it is thought that by means of recent improvements in methods of deep-sea diving the wreck can be reached and her strong boxes opened. It is said that war records which were aboard the craft would be of great benefit to the pension department should they prove to be decipherable.—New York Evening Post.

Suzanne Lenglen said at a luncheon in New York:

"I am very fond of golf but when I took it up in Nice everybody laughed at me. Everybody said I'd be a failure."

"The first day I played at the Nice Country club I was getting ready to tee off when Baron De Malpurgo ran out of the clubhouse and shouted excitedly:

"Mademoiselle! Mademoiselle Suzanne! Be sure to save me all the worms you turn up—I'm going fishing."—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

Fly 320,000 Miles

When the aircraft squadrons of the scouting fleet recently completed their maneuvers with the fleet and flew into Hampton Roads, they wound up a combined flight of 320,000 miles, the Navy department announced, approximately 15 trips around the world, without a single serious accident.

CRACK SHOTS WERE OUT FOR RECORDS

A remarkable record was made by one company of the artillery corps at a Western post. Four shots were fired from a battery of two 10-inch guns at a target 30 feet high by 60 feet long which was moving at the rate of eight miles an hour at a distance of about five miles away. All four shots were fired in a period of 1 minute and 20 seconds, and passed through a rectangle 9 feet high by 42 feet wide, three of them striking the target and the fourth passing four yards to the left of it. The remarkable accuracy of this firing can be appreciated when it is realized that a circle with a radius of 11 yards at the target would include all the shots.

Another company fired four shots from an 8-inch battery at a 30 by 60-foot target which was moving at the rate of five miles an hour at a distance of about four miles from the battery firing. All four shots were hits, and the first shot cut the raft of the material target in two. A circle with a radius of 10 yards at the target would include all the shots. The interval between the shots was 36 seconds.

"WILD BOY" BEYOND REACH OF SCIENCE

The recent discoveries of children supposed to have lived their lives among animals, and who consequently developed animal habits, add interest to the "Peter the Wild Boy" exhibit at Berkhamstead School museum, although there is no reason to suppose Peter was a wolf-child.

Peter was found in 1725 in the woods near Hamelin, in Hanover, where he had subsisted on the bark of trees, leaves, and berries for an unknown period. When found he was apparently about twelve years old.

A year later he was brought to England, but even under skillful tuition he was incapable of receiving any instruction and never developed the faculty of speech.

He died in 1785, at Axter's End farm at North Cross, where he lived since his arrival in England, and on a brass plate in the church is a sketch of his head drawn from an engraving by Bartolozzi.—London Tit-Bits.

"Blue as a Razor"

The word "razor" in this proverbial expression is probably a corruption of "azure," the original phrase, which is sometimes heard, being "blue as azure."

Tools of Housekeeping

One of the surviving users of an old-fashioned razor, hotly denies that women do all their housekeeping with a can-opener.—Arkansas Gazette.

APRICOT WALNUT

ONE of the tempting delicacies in a box of Maillard's "Excellence" chocolates. The sunny orchards of Spain and Italy are ransacked for the finest grade of apricots obtainable. These are made into delicious jelly. A crisp French walnut is added and the whole covered with Maillard's inimitable chocolate. Wonderfully good!

You can recognize it instantly by the "W" design on the top. Each Maillard's chocolate carries its own emblem indicating its center. Use the chart "How to Solve the Great Candy Mystery" in each box and pick out your favorite.

KINGSTON, N. Y., JULY 22, 1927.

The New York police have again been putting a murder suspect through the "third degree" to extort a confession—which is an easier job than hunting up evidence. The Constitution forbids cruel and unusual punishment, but perhaps it would be argued that this kind, however cruel, is no longer "unusual."

That San Antonio man is said to have suffered no ill effects from keeping awake 150 hours with the aid of thirty-five cups of coffee and six packages of cigarettes every 24 hours, but ill effects do not always show themselves immediately, and in any case a repetition of so useless a feat does not call for encouragement.

At the age of 71 Nicola Tesla, who some years since claimed extra knowledge of the "canals" of Mars, declares that he expects to live to see the day when airplanes and ships will circle the world driven by light electric motors receiving their power by wireless transmission from generating stations on the earth, and that then power for manufacturing, and for lighting and heating, will flow through the air from central generating stations at all points where needed. Perhaps there is no harm in such mighty visions and generous predictions even if they never come true.

Marshal Foch is quoted as saying that within the next fifteen or twenty years there will be a devastating world war in which "every country will take part and the combatants will include not only the manhood but the women and children of every nation." On reading this doleful prophecy many are likely to reflect that, though a very great military commander, Marshal Foch is no longer as young as he was and may have become subject to periods of deep depression, it may be worth while to remember, however, that in 1900 anybody had predicted the war of 1914-1918, with all its frightfulness and costs, the whole world would have laughed and gone about its business in cheerful disbelief.

A PROHIBITION PARTY.

Senator Borah sees danger that the prohibition amendment "will continue more and more to be disregarded until, as one of its adversaries has declared, it becomes 'fossilized and futile'—like the 14th and 15th amendments, it might have been added. Writing in the Christian Advocate, Mr. Borah sees hope of enforcement only in the persistent effort of "a great political party" that will make prohibition its supreme issue. It looks as if such an organization would have to result from the sacking of drys to a new party standard, for both the Republicans and Democrats appear to be hopelessly divided on the question. Obviously an all-dry party is desirable if for no other reason because it would provide the needed revelation of what is the real majority sentiment of the country. Too many other prohibitionists are lacking in Senator Borah's readiness to face the actual situation frankly, either affecting a baseless optimism or charging the ruling powers with indifference.

For example, Dr. Clinton N. Howard, chairman of the United Committee for Law Enforcement, asserts that President Coolidge "could make this country bone-dry in thirty days"—implying that Mr. Coolidge is either weak-kneed or indifferent. Inquestionably there are very many active individual prohibitionists against whom so much charge can be made. Some of these, in fact, reveal a readiness to stop at nothing, as numerous more or less startling incidents and notable revelations have clearly shown. The real trouble—more and more clearly seen by the unprejudiced observer—is not that determined effort and zeal are lacking but that the difficulties are very great.

A ROSE BY ANOTHER NAME.

Protest against Anti-Saloon League attempted denigration of American politics and government—an undertaking achieving a bare measure of success—has resulted in a change in the plans of the New York branch, without any weakening of general purpose. Although the

New York branch has repeatedly disclaimed active interest in politics, it recently announced its intention to prevent the Presidential nomination of Governor Smith by the Democrats. Now, however, it has decided to maintain its alleged non-political character by turning the job over to the "Anti-Saloon Campaign Committee," a new organization which it has just created for that express purpose—Mr. S. E. Nicholson, assistant superintendent of the New York Anti-Saloon League and appointed by it as head of the Anti-Saloon Campaign Committee, explaining:

The Anti-Saloon League is an incorporated body, and under the general corporation law is prohibited from making any expenditure for political purposes. The League faithfully observes the law, and none of its funds are used for political purposes. In order to safeguard the political phases of prohibition the Anti-Saloon Campaign Committee has been formed and will be militantly active during the coming months. It is entirely separate from the Anti-Saloon League, has a separate treasury, and is solely dependent upon contributions made for the purpose above suggested. A rose by another name will smell as sweet and a dummy of the Anti-Saloon League will do as well—provided delegates to the Democratic national convention next year are found open to persuasion in substantial form. It was a rather careless oversight, however, for the New York Anti-Saloon League to figure as the printer of the pamphlet containing the Anti-Saloon Campaign Committee's attack on Governor Smith.

MEANEST FORM OF HEADACHE.

One of the meanest forms of headache is that known as migraine. It comes on one side of the head over right eye, accompanied by great depression, nausea, and often vomiting. It comes sometimes every fortnight, every month, every three months, and so forth.

For years these attacks were thought to be due to some liver disturbance, hence the nausea and vomiting. Lately however it has been thought that fatigue, eyestrain, or some disturbance of the ductless glands causes migraine.

However in the Boston Medical and Surgical Journal, Drs. McClure and Huntington tell us that in a series of twenty-one patients with migraine and usual intestinal symptoms, that there was poisoning due to liver disturbance.

And from the British Lancet we learn that Dr. H. C. Rook of London, believes that a great many of these migraine cases are due to a poisoning from some liver disturbance, which is produced by overaction or inefficient action of the liver.

He finds that migraine occurs chiefly in people with a highly sensitive nervous system, and poisons often pick out and attack certain portions of the nervous system.

You'll find that these individuals are often hard workers, and frequently great worriers also.

This hard work and emotional disturbances really interfere with the natural functions of liver and intestine; in fact seem to almost paralyze them for the time being, and thus permits the formation of poisons, that the liver would ordinarily prevent. These poisons in the blood stream cause the headache and other symptoms.

Dr. Rook reports brilliant results in the treatment of these cases, by the use of our old friend epsom salts.

Two to four teaspoonfuls of a 50 per cent solution of epsom salts (magnesium sulphate) is given one hour before rising, and following this the patient is instructed to lie on the right side. At the end of the hour a large tumblerful of hot water or weak tea is taken. This treatment is taken about once every two weeks, or at least once a month. The day or half day before the salts are taken is a starvation day. Certain foods must be limited, that is eggs, chocolate, cocoa, coffee, and alcohol.

To the thousands of sufferers from migraines the above information should be helpful. If they will continue to work hard, and perhaps worry some, then starvation day and epsom salts offer hope.

Task for Science

If science is so wonderful as it claims, why doesn't it make some effort to cure the rubber plant with a real plant and grow them with real things?

THE CLOCK WORKER

By EVELYN GAGE BROWNE

THE man who works with his eyes on the clock.

Just gets to the end of the day—But he doesn't get far on the Road to Success.

For he isn't headed that way.

He hasn't an ounce of genuine "push"—

Except to "push the clock"—

And then when other folks get ahead He loves to sneer and "knock."

He gives just so many hours a day, And he draws no joy from his work; The only thing he draws is his pay, And it's all that he doesn't shirk.

He puts nothing in—except his time, So gets nothing out at the end, Besides some paltry dollars and cents, Which he straightaway proceeds to spend.

It's the chap who renders service-plus, Not just by the hour or the day; But by all that's in him, and gives his best.

For the love of his work—not for pay;

Who's going to sit in the leader's chair, And get to the very top; For he's headed straight to be truly great, And nothing can make him stop.

WHEN I WAS TWENTY-ONE

BY JOSEPH KAYE

At 21—George Arliss Was Unknown in Metropolitan Circles.

AT THE age of twenty-one I was playing in a company touring the English provinces, my chief ambition being to achieve distinction in the London theaters.

Strangely enough it was an American that gratified this ambition, Charles Frohman—George Arliss.

TODAY—Mr. Arliss is probably the foremost character actor in America. It was Mr. Frohman who introduced Arliss to London audiences and by the same oddity in his career, it was in America that he achieved his first great success. This was in "The Darling of the Gods," a Belasco production.

His first appearance in this country was when he was brought over by Mrs. Pat Campbell to play with her in "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray." Ever since then, twenty years ago, he has continued playing only in the United States. It was only two seasons ago that he went to London to enact his famous "Raja of Rukh," in "The Green Goddess."

After "The Darling of the Gods" Mr. Arliss' second big success was in "The Devil," the Franz Molnar play that made a sensation in all parts of the world and was considered one of the most daring plays of the time. His "Disraeli" and "Hamilton" are other outstanding achievements.

Another Arliss play was Galsworthy's "Old English," in which, as an old lion of eighty, he thrilled New York.

SUN CURES

THE current superstitions which are survivals of sun-worship may not be more numerous than those derived from other sources, but in most cases they are more obvious as to their origin—they stand out clearer. One does not have to puzzle over their pedigree and devour long hours in research work to get even an inkling of their parentage: they, as a rule, proclaim themselves as clearly as did the brazen trumpets that announced at Heliopolis the rising god of day. It is an interesting fact that the relics of sun-worship should have come down to us so little changed. They are today practically what they were when the mummified pharaohs were as yet living kings. Here are a few of these superstitions gathered by the American Folk-Lore society:

In rubbing for rheumatism rub from left to right (sunwise). Rub the diseased part of a horse's shoulder with a corn-cob sawed every third morning. Rub a worn corn, etc., with the sun every day and the sun will draw out the pain. To cure a "cure" in a horse rub it with a bone at sunset. Cure a boil by having it rubbed at daylight for nine successive days, rubbing sunwise. To cure a burn, rub sunwise with a finger moistened with salt water three times.

These are all purely and entirely survivals of sun-worship as is evident in the rubbing in the "corn-cob saw," that is, with the apparent course of the sun, as all ceremonies connected with the worship of the sun were performed, and in one case the setting of the time for the appeal to Omnia et sunwise and in another at sunset.

DAILY LESSONS IN ENGLISH.

By W. L. Gordon.

Word study: "Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day. Today's word: Conspicuous; clearly visible; prominent and distinct. "The vase occupied a conspicuous position in the room."

DAILY RADIO PROGRAM

Saturday, July 23.

"The Tannhäuser March" will be the opening selection which will be played by the Goldmine Band and broadcast by WEAF and the Red Network on Saturday night. Olive Marshall, soprano soloist, will be heard in concert with the band. A brand of vocal harmony which has found favor with the radio audience will be broadcast through WJZ when the Elia Male Quartet faces that station's microphone for a program of popular selections. WOR has arranged an unusual feature which has been entitled "Chimes of Normandy in Miniature" and the New York City Fire Department Band will be heard through WNYC. This same station has also arranged a program of characteristic songs and music of Germany which will be interpreted by concert soloists and orchestral organizations. A "Roxie" presentation is scheduled for broadcasting by WEAF and other Red Network stations on this same night. Two DX features will be a musical program of songs by a mixed quartet supported by Creola's Banjo Quintet through WFAA and a radio of Spanish melodies by a lyric baritone through KFI.

Wave lengths in meters on left of station title, kilocycles on the right. Times are Eastern Daylight Saving and Eastern Standard. Black type indicates best features.

Wheat in Alaska
The Department of Agriculture says some wheat has been grown in Alaska and that it has been demonstrated that it is possible to raise there a great part of the wheat needed in the territory.

Immortal Elegy
Elegy is a poem generally of a mournful or plaintive nature. The Greeks first applied the term to a funeral ode. The best example in English literature is Gray's "Elegy in a Country Churchyard."

Masterpiece of Art
Von Munkacsy's famous painting, "Christ Before Pilate," was completed in 1881. This painting was purchased by John Wanamaker for $100,000 and was awarded a gold medal at the international exhibition in 1883.

Flashes of Life
Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press.)

Newark, N. J.—Dempsey is progressing toward the bike championship—George Dempsey of Australia—he won a quarter mile race in a series for the title and received the applause of the multitude just about the time his namesake was being cheered on the other side of the Hudson river.

Philadelphia—Some fight fans from Washington know how winning blows feel to the recipient. Bound for the Yankee Stadium they got so blusterous the crew of the train objected. There was a free for all. The fans lost every round and then apologized.

New York—Mrs. Evangeline Lindbergh, if she likes, may have her apartment decorated with wall paper showing an airplane soaring through pink and blue clouds. The design was selected for her by Mrs. James J. Walker, wife of the mayor, at a convention of wall paper manufacturers.

New York—Because of the fad of bobbed hair the good will of a company dealing in human hair is untaxable as an asset, it is contended in behalf of the estate of Adolph Breslau. Bobbed hair, says an affidavit filed with the State Tax Commission, "has destroyed the good will."

New York—Electricians equipping new buildings have been making as high as $250 and $300 a week with overtime, the State Industrial Commission has been informed. And employers have given testimony of some instances of men being drunk, or sleeping on the job.

PINK SILK BLOOMERS
LAND YOUTH IN JAIL.

A pair of lady's silk bloomers landed a colored youth who gave his name as George Francis in the Greene county jail at Catskill, Thursday, when Sheriff Arbogast was called to West Athens to apprehend a thief who had broken into a house there.

When the sheriff arrived at his destination he beheld a colored youth alighting from a truck and a slight tear in the trousers of the youngster revealed a "dash" of pink. The officer of the law immediately took the negro into custody as the pink hue aroused the sheriff's suspicion for when he was notified of the burglary it was made known that the thief had stolen a number of lady's garments.

An investigation disclosed that the youth had taken a quantity of women's wearing apparel and the sum of $5.

Francis, who was lodged in jail, was at one time an inmate at Barge's Island. He was recognized by Humane Officer Loren J. Hubbard at the Catskill jail. He was released from that institution last July in charge of L. and H. Bergman of West Athens.

Posadas

The nine-day celebration in Mexico just before Christmas is called the "Posadas." It is a combined Christian and Aztec year-end holiday. The Aztecs originally celebrated December 10 to 21, and the Christians December 22 to 24. Being unable to suppress each other, the two tribes finally compromised and extended the Posadas to include both festivals.

Unique General

* Karl Rossmann, explorer, big game hunter and soldier of fortune, is the first American ever to be a general in the Abyssinian army. The Emperor gave him a commission as a reward for exploration work in the African country.

Joe, the barber, says that there are two kinds of girls—those we like to see get on a street car, and those we don't.

INTEGRITY

AT LEAST one-half of the business of the world is done on credit. Without integrity credit would be impossible. Remove integrity from education and the professional world would have little to offer for the alleviation of human suffering or the advancement of civilization. Integrity is the very soul of progress. The exact sciences like engineering, medicine, surgery, and many other professions have made their contributions to the advancement of the race because the spirit of integrity kept men at work in laboratories. A mistake due to the lack of integrity would play havoc with the findings of the exact sciences.

We are more dependent upon the spirit of integrity than we sometimes think. A deposit of money in the bank is safe, not because of steel vaults but because of the integrity of those who are responsible for the bank's investments. The vaults of the bank may be ever so burglar and fire proof, but unless those in control of the bank's funds are reliable and honest, our funds are not safe. We purchase a block of bonds. Our only guarantee of their genuineness is the faith we have in the integrity of those from whom we purchased them. They may be forgotten for all we know.

The very best loan is what is called a character loan. No collateral is supplied. Only the name of one to whom the money is loaned is affixed to the note. Such notes are always paid. They are more safe than any other form of investment because integrity is the very best security in the world. The best investment a person can make in himself is to be stocked with a large amount of integrity. The supreme question in business is not, is the article of merchandise selling? But is the article worth selling? An inferior article might be sold once, but not the second time. If our constituency loses confidence in our integrity we might as well give up. If we maintain our integrity at all cost, our future both in the financial and social world is secured. The vital force which not only makes business but creates friendships and the finer things in life is INTEGRITY.

Cannons Don't Like Them
There who breed and train canines for the market say that the sheltered puppies will be wrecked for life if they are brought up in a jail environment. The glare of the sunbaked with their eyes closed, the noise not only spoils their voices, but their temper. Good music on the piano or violin will help and soothe them, but the jazz stuff is just about fatal to their vocal prospects. If the hot-baby rattle down that to the lovely and innocent cherry what will it do to the musical nature of a possible human singer?

You Can Tell the Animals
This Year At the State Fair

You will be able to know the prize pig, who owns him, and where he comes from at the New York State Fair this year at Syracuse, during the week of August 29 to September 3. For the first time in the history of New York State Fairs, visitors will be able to tell without a catalogue the exact identification of all entries.

Cattle, sheep, pigs and chickens may now be known by cards 11 by 14 inches, on which will be printed the variety of entry, pedigree, prizes won, name of the owner, and address. Fixtures to hold the cards are now being installed.

It is believed this innovation will be popular with the people and that much more interest will be shown in the live stock exhibits. The idea will be extended to other exhibits wherever it is possible.

AUTO RACING EYES ON N. Y. STATE FAIR

Ira Vail, Veteran in Charge, Signs
Up Leading Drivers of the Country.

100-MILE EVENT RESTORED

One of the biggest automobile racing programs of the country which is attracting the leading dirt track drivers is expected on Saturday. Automobile racing day, at the New York State Fair this year during the week of August 29 to September 3. Prizes and guarantees will amount to more than $15,000.

Ira Vail, himself a well known driver, is the new race secretary. His announcement that the 100-mile race will be restored in place of the 50 mile distance of last year will be popular with all auto race enthusiasts. This auto race, together with four motorcycle races of five, fifteen, and twenty-five mile events, will attract one of the largest crowds of the fair.

Among the best drivers of the country Mr. Vail is certain will appear at Syracuse are Frank Lockhart, winner of the 500-mile Indianapolis race in 1926 and holder of the world's record. He expects to break the present one-mile track record of 41.25 seconds.

Norman Batten, hero of this year's Indianapolis race, is also sure to sign the entry blanks. Batten drove his flaming car to the pits and averted a disastrous grandstand crash.

George Sordern, Purdue University student who came in first at Indianapolis this year and whom Vail characterizes as a "mighty good young driver," is also expected to be in the line. Others include such well known drivers as Leon Duray, Ralph DePalma, Cliff Woodberry, and Harry Hartz, last year's champion.

Captain Eddie Rickenbacker, the famous racing driver and flying ace in the war, comes as chairman of the contest board of the American Automobile Association, and Fred Wagner will act as starter. Auto racing cars will be limited to 15 cubic inches piston displacement. The motorcycles will be limited to 25 cubic inches, except for one 25-mile event for machines of 15 cubic inches displacement.

Mr. Vail expects more entries than can be accommodated on the track.

BAZAAR AND RUMMAGE SALE FOR WOODSTOCK LIBRARY

On Thursday, July 28, there will be a bazaar and rummage sale at the Woodstock Valley Hotel to raise money for the Woodstock Library. Besides rummage there will be a children's table presided over by Mother Goose and her flock; a cake table, candy, flowers, baskets, lamp shades, a commission table at which articles of value will be sold, and books, both old and new. One will have an opportunity to buy his summer's reading at an even a price as five cents a book.

The ladies in charge of the rummage table are dedicated to the quality as well as the quantity of articles being brought in, and in return that they are looking to use diligence to prevent advance sales.

Those in charge of the rummage table are asking to be in costume and after supper, which may be held at the Woodstock Valley Hotel and though the number of tables is limited and it is advisable to reserve one well in advance, there will be a costume dance. It all promises to be a great success. The hours are from 2 to 7 p. m. Dancing until midnight. Come in costume and add to the gaiety of the occasion. The public is cordially invited to attend this bazaar and sale at Woodstock.

War "Tank" Not New

"Tanks" were perfected during the World War, but the idea is much older. Fighting vehicles are recorded as early as 1200 B. C., when the Chinese made use of primitive vehicles propelled by men or horse. The so-called "tank" "war tank" were used during the Fifteenth century.

Picture Writing Goes Far Back in History

It is an interesting reflection, points out David Sarnoff, the president of the Radio Corporation of America, that after thousands of years of communication experience mankind was probably not "back" to the too far future, so picture transmission—pictures of words as well as of photographic reproductions of images—for the basis of its written communication system. The new fast communication system upon the basis of picture writing.

Thousands of years ago picture writing was the only known method of communication. Subsequently, as a means of saving time, conventions of one sort or another were adopted, symbols which stood for the picture writing describing an object. Later came the alphabet, a well known method of representing pictures by words to express thought. Communication was carried on with the alphabet, but the alphabet was too slow. It brought with it delay and confusion, and to represent the letters of the alphabet, dots and dashes were the first means of communication with the telephone was developed.

Now, however, science has discovered a method whereby an entire message can be transmitted with one operation, and apparently the speed of communication again has been increased. With it instead of starting with the address and following word for word through the signature, an exact duplicate of the matter to be transmitted can be registered in the receiving office. The process still is slow, but progress is being made daily, and it seems certain that before long practically instantaneous visual transmission of messages of any sort will be possible.

Territorial Waters

There is still much controversy concerning territorial waters. The three-mile limit is recognized and practiced by the United States, Great Britain, Germany, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Denmark. Norway has not agreed to maintain the three-mile limit, claiming that the special configuration of her coast accommodates four miles. Spain lays claim to jurisdiction six miles from shore. For revenue purposes various limits beyond the three-mile limit have been claimed and acknowledged from time to time.

Many Crude Oil Products

The total number of chief products that are taken from crude oil is estimated at nearly 300. And there is a possibility that still more may be evolved by new "cracking" distilling and refining methods.

The Washington monument, near Alexandria, Va., is modeled after the ancient towers which were used as beacons to guide mariners into harbor, or exemplified in those of Rhodes. Was Eve a Model Wife?

No one contends that Eve was a model wife, but she tried to be a good provider for Adam, as is evidenced by the numerous facts that she cooked his goose, made a hash of his affairs, secured a pretty bundle of debt, spoiled the beans in general, and her case was all about just because she carried the devil's brew — Columbia Times.

Plans for 51st Pioneer Reunion

Kingston Members Will Attend Fourth Annual Reunion at Poughkeepsie on August 27—Arrangements Being Made to Entertain Wives of Members.

Nine years ago this month the 51st Pioneer Infantry embarked from Waghawken for the place called "over there". In 1924, through the efforts of several members of the outfit, an organization was formed, the members holding their first reunion in this city. Plans are now being made for the holding of their fourth annual reunion at Poughkeepsie on Saturday, August 27. At the reunion each year the members meet their former buddies whom a good many would not see unless the members held an annual reunion.

The members of Company K of Poughkeepsie, one of the units of the 51st Pioneer Infantry, are working hard to make the affair a big success. The members held a meeting recently to devise ways and means of financing the reunion. It is expected that a public subscription will be asked to help defray expenses so that no assessment of the members will be necessary.

The business session will be held in the state armory commencing at 11 a. m., at which time the election of officers will take place. A light lunch will be served in the mess hall of the armory. In the afternoon, a clam bake will be put on for the members.

If the wife of any veteran cares to attend, arrangements are being made for their entertainment. Lafayette Post, American Legion has donated the use of the veterans' home for the headquarters for the women.

The 51st Pioneer Infantry was composed of men from the various cities and towns in the Hudson valley from Albany to New York. At the time war was declared, it was the Tenth New York Infantry, but after the Declaration of war it was federalized and called the 51st Pioneer Infantry. The regiment was sent to Camp Wadsworth, South Carolina, where it was given intensive training and prepared for overseas service. Company M of this city was one of the units of the regiment, while many who left with the large contingent in May, 1918, were sent to the regiment to bring it up to war strength.

The outfit saw overseas service for about a year, the companies doing various lines of work necessary toward the winning of the war. After the signing of the armistice the regiment was one of the units of the Army of Occupation, serving on German territory for over five months, stationed along the Moselle River from Cochem to Gils, near Coblenz. On account of replacements, the regiment at the end of the war was composed of men from coast to coast.

It is expected that the members in this city will hold a meeting later to make plans to attend the reunion.

Meaning of "Alaska"

The territory ceded by Russia in 1867 had been known up to that time as Russian America. It was called Alaska by William H. Seward, our secretary of state, this being a corruption of the Aleut word alaskiak or alayksa, meaning a great country or continent.

Daily Routine of Von Hindenburg

Germany's President Has Active Time—Rises at 6 A. M. and Official Day Begins at 9:30—Carries Heavy Burdens in Astonishing Manner.

Berlin, July 22.—October 2 will bring the eightieth birthday of President Paul von Hindenburg of Germany.

It is an age when most men would feel that they have a right to rest from the labors of an exacting and strenuous life, but there is no rest for the venerable Field Marshal. For him there is no such thing as an eight-hour day, yet he carries his heavy burdens in an astounding manner and fulfills with the greatest exactitude and devotion the manifold duties resting on the head of the German Reich.

The President's day proceeds according to a carefully regulated schedule. He rises at 6 o'clock, and is ready at 7 o'clock for breakfast, which consists of coffee, rolls, and perhaps jam. Every morning he finds on the breakfast table a big pile of newspapers. Although the chief of the press department of the Foreign Office is to visit him later in the day and report on the news that could interest the President, Hindenburg nevertheless looks through all the newspapers himself, from the most reactionary down to the Socialist organ "Vorwärts." One paper, however, is not permitted to enter the President's mansion. This is the "Rote Fahne," the Communist Organ.

At 8 o'clock President von Hindenburg takes a walk in the beautiful park in the rear of the executive mansion, which is situated in the famous "Wilhelmstrasse." He walks alone, accompanied only by his big dog, Itlof. On rainy mornings he sits for an hour in the glass-enclosed veranda and reads—generally some historical work.

The official day begins at 9:30. It is marked by an almost steady stream of callers—ministers, heads of government departments, diplomats, members of the Reichstag, representatives of special delegations, etc. First of all, however, Secretary of State Meisner is received.

Meisner's name is seldom heard, for he keeps himself completely in the background, but he nevertheless plays an extraordinarily important role politically in Germany. He was secretary of state under President Ebert, and is himself a Socialist, but was retained by President von Hindenburg. Despite the fact that the old Field Marshal stands at the opposite political pole, he reposes unbounded confidence in Meisner and never fails to seek his advice in all important matters. Especially in times of governmental crises is the secretary of state the President's best adviser.

It ought to be possible for an octogenarian to take a short rest after the noon meal, but this luxury is seldom granted to the old Field Marshal. His working day frequently extends until midnight. On "normal" days the receptions, reports, consultations, etc., are over by 7 o'clock in the evening, at which hour dinner is served. Before eating, however, Hindenburg takes a brief walk in the park whenever this is possible.

Happiest in Evening at Home.

The evening is generally reserved for official visits. The President is overwhelmed with invitations to festive gatherings in the various foreign embassies and legations, the ministries, commercial and industrial organizations, scientific associations, etc. From time to time he also has to be present at some gala performance at a theatre or at a concert. This would be a pleasure for the ordinary private citizen, but for Hindenburg it means more work. And the President is always happiest when he can spend the evening quietly at home, surrounded by his grandchildren, to whom he is devoted. At such time he can forget the burdens of his office, doubly heavy for a man of his great age, and is merely the kind grandfather, with a happy smile which would be a revelation to those who know him only from official visits.

On his rare free days the President motors with the members of his family to a hunting lodge, two hours from Berlin, which belongs to the state of Prussia. The Field Marshal is a passionate hunter, and has been from his youth. He spends his main vacations shooting, and is prouder of his trophies of the chase—antlers, beards, heads and other mementoes—than of his many orders and decorations.

CLINTONDALE.

Clintondale, July 22.—Despite the extremely warm weather there was a fine congregation at the M. E. Church Sunday evening. The vocal duet by Miss Helen Lamber and Miss Ethel Fredericks, and the violin solo, "Evening Song," by Miss Mildred Roland, added greatly to the atmosphere of worship and solemnity. The fine choir sang loudly and in the spirit. Miss Myrtle Thompson presided at the organ.

The Ladies' Aid Society are making elaborate preparations for their church fair, Friday afternoon and evening, August 5. All kinds of useful and fancy articles will be for sale. Special features of interest to the children and adults will be provided. A bountiful supper will be served.

Fruit Crops Not Abundant

Survey Shows New York State Will Have About Half the Crop of Last Year—Expected There Will Be Larger Sale—Other Fruit Crops Light.

Everything points to short crops of most fruits this season, both in New York and the United States, according to the state-federal crop report for July issued from the New York State Department of Agriculture and Markets. This is in marked contrast to conditions last year when there was an over-abundance of fruit.

While it is still rather early to make definite forecasts, the New York state apple crop, now indicated at 20,686,000 bushels, is about half the 40,375,000 bushels last year, of which many were not harvested or were not closely utilized after harvest. The average New York production for the past five years has been 31,175,000 bushels. Conditions are spotted, many trees which had heavy crops last year being quite light this year. Although the Northern Spy variety promises better than last year, and McIntosh nearly as well as in 1926, the major variety of Greenings will be very light, Baldwins rather light, and fall varieties only fair.

Pennsylvania will have less than half as many as last year. Virginia and West Virginia a third as many, Michigan a little over two-thirds as many. Washington, Oregon and California together about seven-tenths as many as last year and four-fifths of the five-year average. The July forecast for the United States is 126,701,000 bushels compared with 246,460,000 bushels last year and the average of 199,223,000 bushels during the past five years.

More Fruit for Sale.

In a year with a fairly small crop, it is to be expected that a larger proportion of the total quantity available for sale as fresh fruit will move in commercial channels than in a year with a large crop. Last year there were large quantities of apples not harvested and of those which were harvested many rotted in cellars because of poor markets, due to large supplies of all kinds of fruit. This year it may be expected that there will be much closer utilization. Whereas the total production is estimated at 55 per cent as many apples as last year in the United States, the commercial production is estimated at 67 per cent as many.

Scab has been quite prevalent, both in New York and in other states, especially in poorly sprayed orchards.

Peach and Pear Crops Light.

Peaches promise a light crop in New York, 1,237,000 bushels compared with 2,300,000 last year, of which many were not harvested, and the 5-year average of 2,300,000 bushels. In the east, New Jersey and Georgia have fair crops, but other states are light. California, with 20,216,000 bushels compared with 21,252,000 bushels in 1926 and the 5-year average of 16,866,000 bushels is by far the heaviest producer. The United States crop of 45,462,000 bushels compared with 68,425,000 bushels last year and the 5-year average of 54,014,000 bushels.

Pears, also light, promise a state crop of 1,663,000 bushels compared with 2,088,000 bushels in 1926 and 2,287,000 bushels, the 5-year average. With the exception of California, most of the states have light crops and for the entire country, 17,650,000 bushels this year compares with 25,644,000 bushels last year and 20,756,000, the five-year average.

Other Fruit Prospects.

In New York state, also, the sweet and sour cherry crops are far below last year, while plums and prunes are light.

The prospective grape crop is also small in New York with 56,750 tons promised in contrast to 106,709 tons last year and 51,840 tons in 1926. The crops in Pennsylvania, Ohio and Michigan, which with New York, produce most of the native or Concord type of grapes, are also light. In contrast, the California crop of European type grapes is heavy and the national production now looks like 2,540,000 tons compared with 2,350,000 tons last year and a five-year average of 2,100,000 tons.

Mythical Prophecies.

Mother Shipton, the reputed English prophetess, is said to have lived in the time of Henry VIII. She is first heard of in 1641 in a pamphlet called "The Prophecies of Mother Shipton." Later many verses of "prophecy" were ascribed to her, and there is room for doubt that she ever existed.

ELEANOR GUNN ON FASHIONS

THE IMPORTANCE OF BLUES AND GREENS, THE CONTINUANCE OF THE ENSEMBLE, AND THE INTEREST IN LARGE AND CONTRASTING HATS, ARE OBVIOUS

New York—Green, in many a diverse shade, has been important now for several seasons. Green has been described as a "blonde" color, yet there are unquestionably many brunettes who may safely choose it in some of its many tints. Looking ahead a bit, one hears that green is regarded as one of the best colors for the new evening wrap, and, reading of society functions here and there, one is struck by the recurrence of this color.

Looking about, one sees how often greens appear in the myriads of gay prints being worn, and also how often it is chosen for the hat. It must be admitted that large red hats are favorites. They cast a flattering glow, and in their proper sphere are decidedly effective.

A Chartreuse Green Crepe Elizabeth Dress Gives Evidence of the Sports Influence in the Choice of Hand Blocked Shantung as an Under Blouse Showing Beneath the Bolero and Forming the Lower Part of the Sleeves.

The large hat, as scheduled, has arrived with brighter sunshine. It tops not only the flowered print, but the sports costume. This, by the way, is no longer of crepe only. Silk crepe is too old and tried a friend to discard altogether, but it has a rival in colored linen, which is winning a very prominent place at all sports events. The smartest linen dresses are of two-piece genre. Some are topped with vivid velveteen coats, or with gaily printed ones.

The ensemble theme continues to be emphasized everywhere that smart women congregate. In fact, it seems rather more important in sports circles than elsewhere.

Shades of blue continue to have marked Parisian preference. It is noted that coats nearly always are of darker hue than the costumes they partly cover, and that they introduce a fabric contrast as well. Velveteen with linen, and wool with crepe are two of the outstanding examples. (Copyright, 1927, by Metropolitan Newspaper Service, New York.)

Eleanor Gunn Says

New York—Linen, Shantung, wool crepe, rip, and velveteen are among the materials listed by an expert who attended the St. Cloud tennis tournament. This report is indicative of the wide range of materials now in general use for sports wear.

The bandanna that matches the skirt is among the season's novelties.

Wide box-pleated skirts are more often seen in smart circles than skirts with narrow pleats.

Elephant's hide is given as one of the newer grays for borders.

Printed dresses have been conspicuous in every sense of the word at smart summer events, especially such as are held in the open.

Parasols, usually small, gaily colored, and amusing, as to handle, receive as again important.

Bright velveteen coats vie with some wool top coats for sports wear.

The Manderin that is repeating its Southern success for beach wear.

There has been a great deal of a dark-brownish night shade.

Women Pick Only Duds That Please

Variety and Variation Allow of Choice in All Wearables.

This is undoubtedly a season of variety and variation, observes a fashion writer in the Kansas City Star, a season of seeming caprice, because that which might under other circumstances be capricious is too well planned, too well studied.

But it is no longer a demand on the part of fashion that one must wear so and such or be hopelessly out of style. Rather does Dame Fashion hint with a charming delicacy that this, that or the other thing—it does not suit madam? Then there is the inevitable and graceful shrug—then perhaps something else will do!

Blues of every shade sound an insistent note in milady's wardrobe—in everything from lingerie to accessories.

But you know, don't you, that there are other colors which are just as modish that are more suitable to brunettes? Blues of the vivid greenish shades are the only ones that are flattering to a brunette.

Crocheted silk parasols in two tones of blue, a pale forget-me-not and a darker mosaic blue are the latest whim of the Parisian.

Undoubtedly all the beige, tan, natural and cream-colored shades are the smartest in gloves, with gray to harmonize with gray costumes or accessories. The all-white glove has returned to favor after a season or two of disuse, as well as the all-black glove, carefully chosen with an eye to its harmonizing effect with the costume.

The pull-on, one-clasp or button, with the outseam stitching in a matching or contrasting color, is the smartest glove for all informal wear. For afternoon wear one finds the ornamental cuff still smart in a glove of extremely fine kid and exquisite workmanship.

Chamois, doeskin, mocha and all the harder materials are smart for daytime service wear. Suede or glaze, kid or lambkin, which are finer materials, are found in the more formal gloves.

Such a variety of shapes! It would be simply impossible to say that any one shape of bag was any more popular than another, although there is a preference for certain shapes for certain types, to be sure.

Small and large envelopes; mounted pouches not extreme in size, but oddly shaped; pouchettes and fat pouches, on frames probably gum up the mode in shapes.

Any reptilian leather is smart for bags, for sports wear or street costumes. Black antelope and bright-colored suedes, silks and brocades of all kinds for afternoon wear. Gold and silver lame, pastel-tinted silks and velvet for evening bags, which, of course are smartest when elaborately embroidered in jewels.

But the sovereign right of felt is undoubtedly being hotly disputed this season by straw, and there are many smart compromises between the two in the form of straw crowns with felt brims, or vice versa, or straw set variously into the felt crown.

Belted ribbon also collaborates with straw. The crocheted types are important, especially those that crochet straw and felt or ribbon and felt together.

White Flannel Ensemble Trimmed With Crochet

From Vienna, says the Women's Home Companion, comes one of the most diverting sports ensembles of the season. It is made of white flannel and trimmed with burnt orange and gray wool crochet in ombre effect. The costume is very suitable for country club wear; the coat can be easily slipped off when it's too hot; the dress is made for comfort, elegance and with lapping skirt giving freedom of motion during play. Four rows of crocheted edge the skirt and above hem and round neck; a panel down the front and pockets are in the same double-headed stitch. The coat is edged the same as the dress and the seams are put together with crochet. A straight strip of crocheted follows each side of the front and bands the sleeves.

Derived From Saxon

The word dith, used to designate an organization, is supposed to be derived from the Saxon dithen, to divide; a dith being an association the members of which are shared among the members.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

Undoubtedly, we believe that spiritual virtues should concern us more nearly than material ones; but equally do we believe that if a thing be done it had best be well done, except it be a canvas-back duck; and no housewife ever lost her title to future bliss through the keeping of a good table while she was here upon earth.—Oren Winter.

EATING HINTS

An Englishman in this country for the first time recently remarked that chocolate seemed to be much more than our national flavor—it seemed to be our national vice.

It is certainly true that nine out of ten persons at soda fountains are drinking chocolate. Chocolate cake is the one most often seen at any average home or church supper. Chocolate ice cream, chocolate bars and hot chocolate as a drink are just as common.

The really versatile housewife, however, will realize that there are any number of good things which may take the place of, and give chocolate a rest. Caramel, maple, coffee, raisin and nut icings are all delicious and easy to make.

White Cake.—Cream one-half cupful of butter, add one cupful of sugar, two cupfuls of pastry flour sifted with two teaspoonfuls of baking powder and a pinch of salt added alternately with three-fourths of a cupful of milk. Add a bit of vanilla flavoring and fold in the stiffly beaten whites of three eggs. Pour into two greased and floured tins and bake until brown. When cool cover with—

Orange Icing.—Soak the grated rind of an orange in two tablespoonfuls of orange juice for half an hour. Strain into one well-beaten egg. Add confectioners' sugar to make a thick paste, then spread on the cooled cake. One may use an orange filling for the cake and cover with the icing.

The hostess who likes to serve something novel will be interested in this simple recipe, which makes a delicious flavoring to be used in food too.

We all know how much sugar is found unused in the bottom of glasses and cups; this is a good way to economize.

Blueberry or huckleberry pies are much enhanced in flavor if a little lemon juice is added to the fruit.

Youths Sent to Industrial School

Edward Smith, 13 years old, of Saugerties, who appropriated a large sum of money which had been entrusted to him for deposit in the Saugerties bank by Miss Sarah Snyder, was on Thursday committed to the State Industrial School at Rochester by Judge Fowler in children's court. Smith cashed several checks and instead of depositing the money kept it for his own use.

Harold Delaney, 18 years old, is being held for examination on a charge of having shared some of the money with Smith.

Jerry McCarthy and John Martin, two other Saugerties youths, were also sent to the Industrial School by Judge Fowler. They were accused of stealing fruit from Saugerties markets and also remaining on the streets of the village until late at night. The lads were taken to Rochester by Chief of Police A. W. Richter of Saugerties.

What She Wanted

"Sylvia looks very sweet tonight, don't you think?" asked the fair-haired girl at the dance.

"Positively stunning!" declared her partner, and then realized what he had done. "Of course," he added, "she looks prettier at times than others."

The fair one melted slightly. "The real test of beauty," she said, "is to look pretty always."

"You do," declared her partner. "How perfectly sweet of you to say so. But Sylvia is pretty."

"You are prettier," declared her partner.

"Don't be absurd," said the fair-haired girl; "but it's perfectly sweet of you to say so."

Alert and Observing

Knowing therefore that you cannot be a good master unless you have a universal power of representing by your art all the various forms which nature produces—which indeed you will not know how to do unless you see them and retain them in your mind—look to it, O Painter, that when you go into the fields you give your attention to the various objects and look carefully in turn first at one thing and then at another, making a bundle of different things selected and chosen from among those of less value.—Leonardo Da Vinci's Note Books. Translated by Edward McCurdy.

Taste Not in Money

Taste, runs the saying, flaunts no dollar sign. One can spend a million dollars and have a hideous home, and vice versa, one can spend but a few dollars and achieve good taste in the home with simplicity.

Taste is more than a question of education, it is more than a question of breeding. Some few have it to begin with, more achieve it and a great mass of people have it thrust upon them, fortunately. We say fortunately for the majority of home owners are content to let those who have taste design and decorate their homes for them.

Spenser

Like most poets, he felt the impulse of the day and hour. His poems reflect the color of the sky over his head, blue and somber by turns. His poetry, though at all times sincere, was more or less apparent according to the seasons—more or less engrossing according as he felt the blessings or buffetings of fortune. Yet above the span of his checkered career and alternating quest after earthly joy and heavenly bliss, an indubitable idealism is spread like the rainbow arching over a landscape beaten by the rain and illumined by the sun.—Emile Le-gouis, in "Spenser."

Rules That GovernKinship of Cousins

In answering a correspondent's query, "What relation are the children of first cousins to each other?" that relation to me is my first cousin's child," the Pittsburgh Courier says:

"Determining cousin relationships is simple if you start out right. A cousin is one collaterally related by descent from a common ancestor, but not a brother or sister. Children of brothers and sisters are first cousins to one another; sometimes they are called cousins-in-law, even cousins, or half-cousins. The children of first cousins are 'second cousins' to one another; children of second cousins are third cousins to one another, and so on. The child of one's first cousin is a first cousin once removed; the grandchild of one's first cousin is a first cousin twice removed, and so on. Confusing cousinages arises from the custom of some people who speak of their children and grandchildren of their first cousins as second and third cousins, respectively, but the practice is only local. The correct and almost universal rule for ascertaining cousinage is as we have given it."

Dempsey on Highroad Of Sensational Comeback

Former Champion Knocks Out Sharkey in Seventh Round—Close to Defeat in First Round but Comes Back Strong—A Hard Won Triumph—Victory Restores Much of Dempsey's Old Prestige—82,000 Witness Bout.

JACK DEMPSEY.

By Alan J. Gould

(Associated Press Sporting Editor.) New York, July 22 (AP)—The "hollywood shell" of Hollywood was loaded after all, it seems, and today Jack Dempsey, at 32, is on the high-road of a sensational comeback as the result of a stunning knockout victory over Jack Sharkey.

In a finish as sudden and dramatic as it was marked also by sharp controversy, the former king of the heavyweights dropped Sharkey for the count of ten in the seventh round of their 15-round match and put an abrupt end, for the present, to the confidence course of the young Boston sailor.

Blow Arouses Controversy.

A vicious right to the mid-section—a blow that aroused bitter controversy as to whether it was fair or foul—started Sharkey downward and a short left hook, flush to the chin, completed the sailor's downfall. Sharkey himself, as well as his handlers, claimed a foul and they were supported apparently by many ringside observers as well as others in the vast crowd of 82,000 that filled the Yankee Stadium. But the referee, Jack O'Sullivan, after a moment of hesitation, decided it was a fair blow and tolled the count that brought victory to the bronzed but somewhat battered Dempsey.

A Hard Won Triumph.

It was a hard-won triumph for the man who sat on the heavyweight throne for seven years. It was a smashing, mauling battle that saw him rally from impending defeat in the first round, batter his young rival with a terrific attack to the body and finally bring his foe down. It was a stirring battle that saw the once great "Manassa Mauler" summon back much of all of his old punching power, all of his old game, and a good deal of his old stamina to batter into defeat a foe-man who had all of the assets of youth and speed but little of the hitting accuracy that had marked his previously sensational rise to heavyweight prominence.

Victory a Decisive One.

Whether the elements of dispute around by Dempsey's finishing blow, the victory was sufficiently decisive to restore much of Dempsey's old prestige, gain him one of the greatest ovations of his career, lift him over the first of his comeback hurdles and send him on the way to a return championship battle with his conqueror of last September, Gene Tunney.

Will Fight Tunney Soon.

Although promoter Tex Rickard today declined to make any definite announcement of this plan, it is regarded as likely that Dempsey and Tunney will fight for the crown between September 15 and 20, possibly in Philadelphia where they met last year, but probably at Soldier Field in Chicago. Rickard is understood to have virtually completed arrangements to shift the fight to a site outside New York because neither last night's battle around nor any other in the metropolitan district a flood of spectators to compare with the masses in Philadelphia or Chicago.

Was Unimpaired in Condition.

The Dempsey of today was not the "Dempsey of 1926," the "hug-bolter" that battered Joe Willard into a helpless pulp with a devastating exhibition of punching at the ring.

has ever seen. He may not, either, be as formidable as he was four years ago when he slugged his way to victory over the giant Argentine, Louis Firpo, but he has come a long way along the comeback trail, observers agreed, since the dreary, rainy night last September when he floundered around against Tunney.

Speed Has Vanished.

Dempsey's once lightning-like speed of foot has vanished although his shiftness remains. His punches carry again terrific power and somewhere apparently he has regained a great deal of the old resources that enable him to "take it" and come back to win.

The First Round.

Last night, in the first round, he was perilously close to defeat. He was tottering, groggy, under the impact of a series of solid hooks to the head, and bleeding from the mouth. But he had the stamina to weather the sudden storm. It took only a few seconds for last night's finishing picture but it was a thrilling climax.

The Seventh Round.

Dempsey came out of his corner in the deciding seventh round and ripped in close, as he had done consistently in the previous rounds. They had whirled around, Dempsey's head buried in Sharkey's shoulder, when suddenly the former champion sank a short vicious blow to the sailor's waistline. Sharkey turned his head toward the referee, apparently to claim a foul, and doubled up but they were still mixing as Dempsey shot over his left.

Referee Hesitates.

There had been no attempt by Referee O'Sullivan to interfere or warn Dempsey if he thought the latter's blows too low. And although he hesitated a second or two as Sharkey went down on all fours, the referee quickly took up the count, and, at ten, waved the sailor "out."

Dempsey in High Spirits.

New York, July 22 (AP)—Jack Dempsey, buoyed to high spirits by his knockout of Jack Sharkey, prepared today for a flying trip to his wife and home in Hollywood, California, before settling down a few weeks hence to train for his return fight with Gene Tunney for the heavyweight championship.

"I don't care where it is to be."

said Dempsey. "Philadelphia or Chicago will suit me just as well as New York. This fight will do me a lot of good. I will keep in shape and be set for the big shot."

Ticked As a Boy.

Dempsey himself was as tickled as a boy with a new for because of his victory. His old confidence in himself seemed restored. He slumped and smiled "Jerry the Great," his trainer, as though the modest Jerry "hook" fit him.

The former champion declared he never felt himself badly hurt by any of Sharkey's punches although he admitted he was jarred several times, especially in the first round. In good condition but his face was bruised and it was necessary to take several stitches in cuts over his eye.

Sharkey's Misadventure.

Dr. Frank H. Russell, who attended the ex-champion, said three stitches were taken in a cut in the right eye and one stitch in a cut over the left eye.

Fight Attracts A Million Dollars

Dempsey Will Receive Slightly Over $250,000 and Sharkey Slightly Over $200,000—Rickard's Shares, $454,188.

New York, July 22 (AP)—Jack Dempsey and Jack Sharkey split a purse of slightly more than $450,000 for their battle, which drew a "gate" of $1,075,000 and attendance of 82,000, according to Tex Rickard's estimate. It was the fourth million dollar fight in ring history, in all of which Dempsey has been a principal. The former champion now is assured of a "cut" in his fifth big money fight when he meets Gene Tunney in a return title bout.

Rickard's contracts with the fighters called for Dempsey to get 27 1/2 per cent and Sharkey 22 1/2. Dempsey was understood to have been guaranteed $250,000 and on a percentage basis, it figures to go slightly over that, with Sharkey getting a little over $200,000. Here are the promoter's figures:

Total receipts $1,075,000.
Dempsey's share $252,750.
Sharkey's share $206,800.
Federal tax $107,500.
State tax $53,750.
Rickard's shares $454,188.

Tunney Praises Dempsey for Fight

Champion Declares That If Dempsey Has Been Away That He Has Come Back—Saw No Foul—Predicts a Great Return Bout.

New York, July 22 (AP)—If Jack Dempsey has been away he has come back. So said Gene Tunney, who knows Dempsey, both in and out of the ring.

"I never saw him fight better," said the champion as Jack Sharkey, the confident, was being carried to his corner. A left hook from the gloved Dempsey's fist a few seconds before had caused the youth from Boston to lose all interest in the subsequent proceedings.

The titleholder's first observation after Sharkey had been counted out was a question. "Did you notice how far that last blow carried?" he asked. There was no objection to his answering his own question. "Not very far, not many inches, but, oh, what a power there was behind it." "Yes, Dempsey can hit," Tunney continued. "He has always been able to hit and I suppose he always will."

Tunney liked the bout. He followed it closely from start to finish. He saw no foul. "The blows that were questioned were not in the groin," he said. "As I saw them they were fair."

"Yes, I think Jack, (there was no question which Jack he meant) was better than he was against me in Philadelphia. Sure we should have a great return bout, wherever and whenever we meet."

"No one can accuse me of holding Dempsey lightly," Tunney said. "I know how good he is. I knew it before I won from him, and I have not changed my opinion of his ability since. He is always dangerous."

marked in comparison with his condition after losing to Tunney last September.

Sharkey Undaunted.

New York, July 22 (AP)—Undaunted by his knockout at the slugging hands of Jack Dempsey, but persistent in his belief that the telling blow was foul, Jack Sharkey will set out after a few weeks' rest to fight his way back to theistic heights from which he has fallen for the present.

Possible His Next Pae.

Paulino Uzcudun, the sturdy young Spanish conqueror of Harry Williams, will be his next foe in a bout to be held in New York in about two months. If the plans of Sharkey and his manager, John Beckley, materialize.

Still certain he "can lick Jack Dempsey," Sharkey today was firm in the opinion he would have won that for the manner of Dempsey's attack.

Sharkey's face and body bore little evidence of the pile-driving force of Dempsey's blows. He suffered no apparent ill effects from the disputed body punch which helped to send him down.

Dempsey's attack was centered about his hips, Sharkey said, and on more than one occasion in the seventh round the bombardment dropped below the waist line.

Was Not Apprehensive. While believing his fighter "was fouled" had a down time," Sharkey said he would not appeal the decision.

Tagging Major League Bases

(By The Associated Press)

Joe McCarthy's Chicago Cubs were back at the top in the National League race again today, but not by dint of their own energy.

The leadership changed hands yesterday for the fourth time in as many days when the Pittsburgh Pirates lost both ends of a double header to the Boston Braves. The Cubs failed to solve Herb Pruett's offerings and lost to Philadelphia 7-3.

Neither Gray Bush or Percy Jones had anything to bother the Phillies, who slammed out 13 hits. The Cubs' infield turned in four double plays but their pitchers gave eight bases on balls.

Kremer gave only five hits in the first game at Boston but the Braves bunched two of them in the first inning for two runs and a 2-1 verdict. Kent Greenfield scattered 5 hits and was effective in the pinches. Miljus, a Pacific coast league product, made his debut for the Pirates in the night cap and was charged with the 5-2 defeat.

The Giants exploded a wagon load of fireworks in the ninth against the St. Louis Cards but lost the series 7-6. Coming to bat five runs behind, the New York club drove Jess Haines to cover in the ninth and scored five runs. In the tenth Devereaux threw wild to third and Bottomley crossed with the winning run. Frankie Frisch got three hits in five times at bat, one of them a home run, and handled 14 chances without a slip up.

Cincinnati and Brooklyn battled 12 innings before the Reds came out on top 2-1. The Robins had the bases loaded in the tenth with only one down but lacked a punch. Connally had the New York Yanks in the hollow of his hand until the eighth when the Huguenot put across four runs and took the game 4-1. Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig hit no home runs but each clouted a double.

The Philadelphia Athletics won the series opener from Cleveland, 5-3, hitting Joe Shaute hard while the veteran Jack Quinn was scattering the 11 hits he permitted.

A double by Bennett with the bases full in the ninth gave the St. Louis Browns victory over Washington 6-4. The second game was halted in the seventh by darkness with the teams deadlocked, 2 all. Bucky Harris, the Senators' field boss, was banished for arguing with an umpire. "Goose" Goslin got four hits in four tries, one of them being a homer.

Regan's home run with a man on base failed to keep the Boston Red Sox from defeat, the Detroit Tigers trimming Carrigan's team 7-3.

Big League Owners Have No Sentiment

When one considers how devoid of "sentiment" are most of the big league magnates, he cannot blame ball players for holding out for big salaries.

There is the classic instance of Casey Stengel. In the last world's series between the Giants and the Yankees, if we remember correctly, Casey hit home runs enabling the Giants to win their only two games.

After his heroic work in that world's series, one would have thought that Casey would have had a lifetime job. But not so. The following winter, the veteran was shipped off to the Boston Braves.

ERNIE NEVERS IS A BASEBALL STAR

One of Few Gridiron Players to Shine on Diamond.

Ernie Nevers, pitcher on the staff of the St. Louis Browns, is the only all-American football player in the major leagues. As a plunging, running, kicking and passing back at Stanford he won the highest honor the game can bestow in 1925.

Nevers was a better football full-back than he is baseball pitcher but he is improving and may grow to be a star.

Great football players in recent years have not been sensational successes in baseball.

Two star pitchers of earlier days, Christy Mathewson and Chief Bender, were good football players at Bucknell and Dickinson.

Jim Thorpe, rated by followers of the game as football's greatest player, did not start a confederation in major league baseball. He was never on very good terms with curve balls and big league hooks finally proved his nemesis. He was an outfielder of sorts.

Gordon Cochrane of the Athletics and Boston university was a great football player, and should be classed, perhaps, not very far behind Nevers.

Frankie Frisch was the Fordham dash as a quarterback before he broke into major league baseball, and Eddie Collins played quarter for Columbia several years before Frisch entered Fordham.

Yic Hanson, Syracuse all-American end and captain of the baseball team, was invited to join the Yankees and other clubs but declined.

Mike Gazella, utility infielder of the Yankees, did not have to sit on the bench when the Lafayette football team was playing. Glenn Killinger, all-American back at Penn state, was never able to make the all-Yankees, and the same fate befell Howard Berry, the Pennsylvania dynamo, who made an unsuccessful bid for a place in the cast of the Giants.

DIAMOND PICK-UPS

Dizzy Vance of the Robins has his strike-out ball working in fine style.

Few pitchers protect first base on fielding plays any better than Wilkie.

Pitcher's Axiom: Ruth crushed to earth will rise again in the seventh inning with three on base.

Although Lazzeri is being shifted all over the infield it doesn't seem to affect his hitting any.

Ralph "Babe" Pinelli, infielder, was released outright by Cincinnati Nationals to San Francisco in the coast league.

Connie Mack was born sixty-five years ago in Brookfield, Mass., and was a shoemaker before he took to baseball.

Overton Tremper, University of Pennsylvania outfielder, has been obtained by the Brooklyn National league club.

Don Miller, pitcher for the Michigan baseball team for the last two years, has reported to the New York American league baseball team.

Pitcher John Miljus left the Seattle team recently, saying he was through. The club immediately placed an indefinite suspension on the player.

Probably somewhere at some time a pitcher was traded for a bat but was $30 and didn't come back six weeks later and hold his old team to four singles.

Frank Busby, who pitched St. Mary's college baseball team of St. Mary's, Kan., to nine victories out of ten games this year, reported to the Boston Red Sox.

Manager Johnny Lawson of Lincoln has paid under protest a fine of $300 levied against him by President Gear for causing a strike to be forfeited in a recent game in Tulsa.

Kel Seerist, third baseman and former manager of the Omaha Western league team, has been traded for Pete Brown, third baseman of the Des Moines Western league team, who will become manager of the Omaha.

Real Interest In Coming Game

Colonial-All-Star Contest Scheduled for Sunday Creates Considerable Interest Among Fans—Van Buren Expected to Pitch Good Game Sunday.

The looming Colonial-Kingston All-Star series which is set for a take off on Sunday afternoon at the Fair Grounds has created a great deal of interest about the city. This anticipated encounter will be a battle between Kingston's celebrated ball club and a team of players that have been playing together for five seasons each year increasing their prestige a few degrees till they have reached the point this season where they stand out as a contender for the Colonial. Considerable advance hope has been handed out for this battle which is expected to draw an enormous crowd to the uptown diamond.

All the All-Star players have been playing with this team for some time with the exception of Willard Sahlhoff and Roy Van Buren, the All-Star roster has remained the same for two seasons. Another reason that Managers McCardie and Cragin have for establishing confidence in their warriors is the fact that Dewey Van Buren, the All-Stars pitching ace is working better this season than he ever has. Dewey is traveling at fast pace this year and is expected to pitch a great game Sunday in the opening contest.

CENTRAL HUDSONS FALL BEFORE RONDOUT'S ATTACK.

The Rondout A. C. took a six-inning game from the Central Hudson Gas & Electric team at the Athletic Field Thursday evening. The score was 9-2 at the end of the sixth, when the game had to be called on account of darkness. The Gas & Electric boys started by corraling two runs in the first frame but the Rondout's pitcher was invincible after that stanza and they scored no more. The best inning of the Rondouts was the fourth. Another game between the two teams will be staged at Block Park Monday evening.

Sharkey Knocked Out In Seventh

Holds Up Dempsey's Fighting Fist

Human Eye Unable to Catch Bird's Activity

The barred owl turns a somersault in midair, too fast for the human eye to see, but not too fast for the camera to snap. It cost me a wet and muddy day in a black-gum swamp to find out how it is done, Samuel Smedley writes, in the Forum.

We splashed our way through mud and water until we came to a couple of large hollow trees not 20 feet apart. In one was the nest of a barred owl containing two eggs in a hollow about twenty feet up, while in the other tree a horned owl had made its nest in a hole some fifteen feet from the ground and laid there six round white eggs about the size of a crow's egg. Both nests contained dead bird mice, while in the barred owl's hole was the wing of a screech owl and the feathers of a marsh hawk, which that same slipshod had evidently killed and eaten. While we were staring up at the nests, the female barred owl came swimming like a gray shadow through the woods and, approaching the nestling hole, suddenly plunged into it, apparently without slackening its flight to the least.

One of my friends obtained a snapshot of it as it entered its nest and the camera showed something which our eyes were not quick enough to follow and gave the explanation of how so large a bird could plunge into a tree at full speed without receiving any injury. When the plate was developed it showed that just as the owl reached the hole it turned a somersault and, reversing its wings, checked its flight for an instant and fell in feet foremost, a bit of aerodynamic which I fancy only the most skilled flyers among the bird folk can perform.

Sunlight's Power Over Mind Is Great Factor

Much has been written in the last year or two of the therapeutic rays in sunlight and of their benefit to health. Undoubtedly these benefits are real, but they are not the only ones in sunlight. Science is not yet ready to certify just which rays of the sun's solar rays are beneficial. Possibly all are. Nor is it safe to be dogmatic in asserting that factors of the sun are destroyed altogether through the physical portals of blood or skin. There are links between sun and mind, too. It is hard to be cheerful in the dark and cheerfulness grows ever more precious in this modern world which has lost touch so much of its intellectual balance. A place in the sun, occupied occasionally by pessimism. There is no need to be a sun worshiper, but it is a fine plan to be an occasional sun absorber.

The story of a standard dictionary is told in the Kingston City Star. If the finger won't return it he might as well call the town up and ask him what the word was he wanted to know.

Eight thousand persons are to be employed in making a football, then in Boston, and it is going to take six months to make it. Failure to distribute it will not get to American owners.

Advised Columbus

Erastosthenes, ancient Greek philosopher, is said to have deduced the roundness of the world and measured its circumference. In the Fifteenth century, Toscanelli, a Genoese scientist, came across his writings and is said to have imparted them to Columbus with the assurance that if he sailed to the west he would discover new lands.

Actions Decide Worth

Not alone to know, but to act according to the knowledge, is thy destination, proclaims the voice of my inmost soul, wrote Fichte, German philosopher. Not for indolent contemplation and study of thyself, nor for brooding over emotions of piety, no, for action was existence given thee; thy actions and thy actions alone, determine thy worth.

Peril to Miners

Fire-damp is the ordinary name for carburetted hydrogen, which issues from "blowers" or fissures in coal seams. It is inflammable, and when mixed with air in certain proportions, is highly explosive. Its ignition is attended by the danger of an explosion of coal-dust.

Financial and Commercial

New York, July 22 (AP)—The stock market continued to push upward today despite repeated selling attacks, but the advance was by no means uniform. Further easing of the credit situation helped to maintain bullish enthusiasm, although there was an unusually heavy volume of week-end profit taking which impeded the efforts of speculators for the advance.

A reported turn for the better in the lumber trade, followed closely reports of improvement in the steel and copper industries, strengthened hopes of good business this fall. Meanwhile, rumors of special dividend action in the near future by directors of General Motors and other large corporations kept speculative enthusiasm at high pitch.

"Bear" traders continued to ferret out weak spots. Houston Oil broke nearly ten points to 142, but quickly snapped back to above 149. Amusement shares were singled out for selling in the early afternoon on reports that theatre receipts were unsatisfactory. Paramount Famous Players and Fox film feeling the brunt of the attack. Such recent strong spots as Baldwin, General Electric, American Radiator and Union Carbide also lost ground.

Oil shares failed to respond to the action of the Oklahoma Corporation Commission in restricting drilling in the Seminole field. The quarterly report of the Marland Company, showing a deficit of $2,155,000, tended to dampen speculative enthusiasm for those shares.

Gabriel Snubber was bid up over four points to 58 1/2 on unconfirmed reports that Henry Ford was negotiating for rights to manufacture snubbers on the new Ford model. American Tobacco common and the B stock and Cluett Peabody also touched new record highs. Outstanding strength also developed in Case, Thrashing, Crucible Steel, United Cigar, Freeport Texas and American Smelting.

Rails were decidedly mixed, with the Van Sweringen issues in good demand.

Mystery Shrouds Youth's Death

Osawego, N. Y., July 22 (AP)—City and county authorities are today trying to solve the mystery surrounding the death of John B. Dowine, 21, of this city, whose body was found on West First street, at 3:10 o'clock this morning, opposite the city power plant, now in course of construction. There was a bad cut over his right eye and a cut on his right cheek.

Dewine, who was attending the naval mechanic aviation school at Pensacola, had been home on leave and was to have started back last night. His mother said that when he left the house early in the evening he had $50, but when his body was found, there was no money in his pockets. This fact, together with the fact that he was probably not struck by an automobile, as the street at this point is closed because of the hydro electric plant construction, leads the authorities to suspect foul play.

Hawaii Fliers Leave for Boston

Washington, July 22 (AP)—Lieutenants Maitland and Hegenberger, the Hawaiian non-stop fliers, left Bolling Field today to fly to Boston. A stop will be made at Mitchell Field, N. Y., to leave Assistant Secretary Davidson, in charge of aeronautics in the war department, who was a passenger.

Porter Adams, president of the National Aeronautical Association, another passenger, will accompany the fliers to Boston.

The huge monoplane, a ship similar to that which Maitland piloted to Hawaii, was escorted by three pursuit planes of the Selfridge Field, Mich., group.

SPECIAL MUSIC SUNDAY AT FIRST REFORMED CHURCH

The program of music at the First Reformed Church Sunday morning will prove one of the most attractive of the July musical services maintained at this church.

For the organ prelude, Mr. Fredenburgh will play "In the Church," by Vitezslav Novak. This is a most interesting organ number in which the modern Russian composer makes effective use of the chimes, harp and echo organ. The anthem will be the renowned "Sanctus," to be sung by Mrs. Johnston and chorus, and for the offertory solo Mrs. Doty will sing "Behold the Master Fassech By," by Hammond.

Charged With Vagrancy.

Annals Marriage, Wife Deceived

There was filed in the office of the Ulster county clerk on Thursday a decree signed by Justice G. D. B. Hasbrouck, annulling the marriage of Anna Mathilda Daniels, as plaintiff, against Clarence Daniels, also called Charles Daniels, defendant. The couple were married in Brooklyn January 30, 1924.

Within a half hour after her marriage, the plaintiff alleged that she had found out that untrue statements had been made by her husband regarding her future welfare and happiness. The husband then left her and never returned. The action was brought by Mrs. Daniels upon the grounds of fraud. Grant M. Brinier of Saugerties was the attorney for Mrs. Daniels.

Memoriam.

Strange how memories linger as the years go on
And the aching doesn't seem to ease at all
Our hearts are just as heavy at the break of dawn
And the loneliness just as bad when shadows fall
God alone knows how we loved you little boy
God alone knows how we need you day by day
But in our hearts we hold the sweetest joy
O my God we meet again some happy day
In loving memory of our son and brother, Harry H. Krom, July 22, 1927.

Celebration at Carleton Island

Interesting Ceremonies to Accompany Unveiling of Bronze Marker Erected by State to Commemorate Important Military Camp.

Albany, N. Y., July 22 (AP).—Carleton Island in the upper St. Lawrence, named after Sir Guy Carleton and just off Cape St. Vincent, is to be the scene of a New York State Sesquicentennial celebration on Saturday afternoon.

On this island, comprising about one thousand acres, St. Leger made his rendezvous for a number of days when advancing toward Fort Stanwix. It has been recognized from early times as an important military base and was once a thriving lumber station where rafts were loaded and sent down the St. Lawrence.

New York state is to unveil here, on Saturday afternoon, a bronze marker commemorating the fact that this was one of the camps made by St. Leger. The program begins at 2:30 p. m. and the speakers at the unveiling ceremony will be Robert Lansing, former secretary of state; Dr. A. C. Flick, executive chairman for the 150th anniversary celebration; and Dr. James S. Riggs, president of the New York State Historical Association.

The celebration at Carleton Island is one of a series commemorating this year the part played by New York state during the American Revolution in the year 1777. Somewhat similar exercises have already been observed by New York state at Crown Point on July 4, at Fort Ann July 8, at Fort Oswego July 9, and at Cherry Valley July 20-21.

July 20-21. After the Carleton Island celebration on July 23, there will be another state anniversary program at Fort Edward on July 27 and on the 28th at Fort Brewerton.

The anniversary celebrations lead up to the major exercises and historical pageant to be held on August 5 at Fort Stanwix and Oriskany. There will be memorial exercises in the morning at the Oriskany Battlefield between Utica and Rome, and in the afternoon a historical pageant will be staged in front of the replica of Fort Stanwix which has been constructed just outside the Rome city limits especially for this event.

At the unveiling ceremony on Carleton Island, Dr. Flick will explain about the first phase of the frustration of the great Burgoyne campaign by the decisive defeat of St. Leger on the battlefields of Oriskany and Fort Stanwix.

BODY COVERED WITH TORTURING ECZEMA

Doctor prescribed soothing home remedy and healed trouble

Eolia, Mo., Aug. 19:—"Some months ago my daughter developed a bad case of eczema which spread almost all over her body. After days and weeks of distress caused by this skin trouble from which she could get no relief our physician prescribed Resinol Ointment. The first few applications brought signs of healing and the burning sensation was less severe. After several weeks' use of the product not a symptom of this terrible trouble remained. I hope others will be helped as my daughter was by your wonderful Resinol Ointment." (Signed) Mrs. M. F. Downing, Route 1.
Resinol Ointment is also a soothing, healing dressing for minor burns, sores, rashes, etc. Your druggist sells it. Keep a jar handy.
